

RIVERS IN THE AIR

The storm that hit Northern California on Tuesday was an “atmospheric river,” which draws a column of moisture across the Pacific Ocean from the tropics aimed directly at California.

